

Challenge

Track critical global market movements from anywhere and at any time in a highly convenient, quick and affordable way.

Solution

Implement the award-winning CarryQuote application and ensure that QAP Portfolio Managers never miss a market move.

Result

- Global on demand real time market data » Stay on top of the global markets.
- Fully integrated mobile and web solution » True mobility outside the office.
- Affordable real-time market data solution » Improved cost and operational efficiencies.

Professional Portfolio Managers use CarryQuote to track global markets on the move.

QAP partnered with CarryQuote to provide its team with:

- Access to real time global market data
- True mobility away from the desk
- A quick, convenient and affordable tool
- Instant mobile price alerts

The founders of QAP faced the challenge of accessing market information when they were away from their desks and acting quickly to exploit global cross-currency opportunities and to avoid losses. Before implementing CarryQuote, QAP found solutions which were either limited in terms of data and flexibility or were too expensive with superfluous features.

True mobility

Courtney Malcarney, Partner and Portfolio Manager, QAP needed a solution that would allow him to remain connected to the global markets outside the confines of his office: “CarryQuote gives me an easy way to hop on my cell phone and check the market whenever I need to. It’s easy to make trading decisions from anywhere as I always have easy access to critical information.” He also stressed the global nature of the financial markets: “Trading for most of the markets I track now runs from usually eight in the morning till ten at night. Forex trades 24 hours a day. With CarryQuote I can always keep up with the markets and don’t need to sit in my office for sixteen hours daily.”

Ease of use

Courtney has been extremely pleased with the CarryQuote application: “We had initially tried to use mobile applications from the brokers but they weren’t always so quick or so convenient. You only got what they gave you and didn’t get to select what you wanted to see; so from that standpoint it wasn’t the best choice. Bloomberg or Reuters have applications as well but those are quite expensive. CarryQuote offers a lot at a significantly more affordable price. I really use the data and the charts and like the analytics as well.

"We're thrilled to be working with QAP to help them bring real-time market data and mobile access to their team of hedge fund advisors. Our solution offers significant and measurable benefits -- including anytime, anywhere access to vital market data and technical analysis -- and the QAP implementation is further proof that today's financial professionals want to realize these benefits, and want to do it in a more effective, less expensive way."

- Michael Stennicke, CEO and Co-founder, CarryQuote

Customer Profile

- Global hedge fund advisor.
- Established in 2008, based in Zug, Switzerland
- Exclusive advisor to HTS Derivative Investment Fund.

I use it mostly to watch currencies, the European Indices and the major U.S. Indices."

Powerful mobile alerts

Recommended by their custodian, Lloyds Bank in Zurich, QAP has been enjoying the convenience of having access to critical market information away from the office. The Portfolio Managers have leveraged the alert functionality of the application to track key instruments: "If an alert pops up, I know to check with my broker right after. I can set alerts for various levels — for example, if I'm interested in knowing when the market moves up 1% or down 1%, I can set an alert to go off. I can also decide to reset the alert after that percentage move to see growth from there. It's a very useful feature when you want to follow stocks and see where they're headed."

Low cost & high value

"We've tried other mobile data providers in the past and found that their services are either limited in terms of data and flexibility, or costly with superfluous features. CarryQuote provides an ideal balance, offering real-time access to the specific market data and customized charts we need, but at an affordable price," Courtney, who has been using the product for a year now. "Now we are able to stay on top of the market even while away from the desk, enabling us to make better and more informed trading decisions."

About CarryQuote®

CarryQuote® (www.carryquote.com) offers an award-winning market data technology that delivers real-time financial market information and analysis across asset classes and geographies to mobile phones and desktops at a fraction of the price of other market data providers.

About QAP®

Qarun Advisory Partners® was incorporated in Zug, Switzerland in May 2008 by Courtney Malcarney and Felix Tan. QAP is the exclusive advisor to the Cayman Island based HTS Derivative Investment Fund.

To find out how you can benefit from CarryQuote, send us an email at: sales@carryquote.com

